WELCOME

Thank you for joining us for MyFlatpack 2016, a two day festival experience and vlogging (video blogging) workshop, as part of a UK-wide young programmers initiative supported by the BFI Film Audience Network. During the workshop you'll get to meet other young film and media enthusiasts from across the UK, pick up practical skills from seasoned YouTubers and film professionals, explore Flatpack Film Festival events and get involved in creating vlogs about what you've seen. We're looking forward to getting to know you over the weekend and opening up a world of film for you at this year's Flatpack Festival. Share your experience via social media using #MyFlatpack.

ABOUT US

This workshop is led by Film Hub South West & West Midlands and supported by the BFI Film Audience Network (BFI FAN), a ground-breaking initiative developed by the BFI to enable organisations and film experts in the independent cultural exhibition sector to work in partnership to boost film audiences across the UK, particularly in the areas of specialised and independent British film.

Watershed in Bristol, UK is the Film Hub Lead Organisation for the South West & West Midlands, which stretches from Cornwall and Dorset to the West Midlands.

WHO WE ARE

Tiffany is the Coordinator for the Film Hub South West & West Midlands, organising opportunities and activities for a network of over 170 venues, cinemas, and film festival organisations across the Hub region and being the central point of contact for Film Hub members. She is passionate about cinema and enabling as many people as possible to access the rich diversity of film on offer outside of the mainstream.

WHO WE ARE

Mixing comedy and curly hair, Jon makes vlogs about a variety of things including feminism, trips to ASDA and Beyoncé (see his channel: jonbehere). He is now a content creator for several organisations, frequently overshers on Twitter (@jonbehere) and mentors young people to make their first ever videos.

Rife magazine is a new, online platform for young people, written by young people. Covering film, music, art, culture, social issues and politics, Rife is everywhere sharing everything Bristol has to offer its young people through all your favourite channels. Head to www.rifemagazine.co.uk to find out more.

The guy who forever has a smile on his face, Sham makes vlogs about his crazy hectic adventurous (and admittedly nerdy) life with his friends and family. Incidentally he's also teaching kids in secondary school to do the same. Other than that he takes pics of food, and weddings, or something like that. Check him out on Youtube: shamphatproductions.
